TF293: Brett Fawcett on Jacques Maritain, Just War, and Universal Human Rights - Part 1

Returning Guest, Brett Fawcett discusses the development of Just War Theory and universal human rights as developed through the middle ages into modernity through the work of Jacques Maritain.

Show Snippet: "Let's start in, say, the middle ages...there's this idea that there's a unity of the human family, we're all descended in some sense from Adam, and we're certainly all created in the image and likeness of God. Therefore we all have dignity..."

itwewin Corner (itwewin is the Cree word which means 'the word' or 'as it is said...')

Fr. John Weckend, Archdiocese of Regina Truth and Reconciliation Healing Committee

Did you know..."Spirituality is an understanding that all of the Creator's creations, including the smallest insect and the air we breathe, have a life force or a spirit and are therefore sacred. During the time of Treaty signing, the first Nations understood the term "As Long As the Sun Shines, the Rivers Flow, and the Grass Grows" to mean that the spirit of each element (sun, grass, river) is a witness to the exchanges that were happening." (Cultural Teachings: First Nations Protocols and Methodologies, SICC, p.15)

Stewardship Bulletin Bit

"Jesus said to them again, 'Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, so I send you.'" (John 20:21)

Peace – the first gift of the risen Lord. Just as Jesus sent the apostles out into the world, so too, He sends us. As disciples of Jesus, we are called to be compassionate and merciful; and not with just those who are our friends, but also with our "enemies." Think of someone in your life who you need to reconcile with. Call them right now or better yet, go visit them.

Decolonizing Ourselves: Exploring the Spirit of Land Acknowledgements

May 3 and May 5, 2022

7pm Mountain & Central Standard, 8pm Central Daylight, 9pm Eastern Daylight

We welcome you to attend two online workshops with Dr Rose Roberts (PhD) and Dr Stryker Calvez (PhD), two Cree and Métis experts who have presented land acknowledgement workshops at the University of Saskatchewan for many years and created a series of short videos to help others develop and personalize their land acknowledgements to make them meaningful. This online series will invite us to reflect and act on the role and meaning of land acknowledgements in our personal lives as well as in our faith communities. We hope to connect with one another to consider our relationships with place, land, people and spirit, and to learn how to make our land acknowledgements authentic and genuine.

The workshops will each be 1.5 hours. They will require your active participation as well as a personal commitment (2-3 hours) to learning and self-reflection prior to the first event. This is mandatory 'homework' that involves:

1. Watch video series here: teaching.usask.ca/curriculum/indigenous-voices/land-acknowledgements/module.php
2. Spend time outside in a quiet place to reflect.
3. Write your own land acknowledgement

*Plan to spend 2 hours for the pre-work. The videos run ~1 hour.

Register early (before April 25th) to join a "Watch Party" on April 26th where we will watch the videos and discuss them as a group in preparation for Workshop #1.
