Reflections from the Administrator's Desk

“Look at the prodigal son. He leaves his father's house. He displays frightful ingratitude toward his father who is so good; he demands his part of the inheritance to go carousing, far away. Soon he finds himself stripped of everything and is forced to reflect. In the depths of his abjection, he has the grace to recall the goodness of his father. I shall rise up and go to my father. That is confidence. But humbly he recognizes himself to be a sinner. I shall say to him, Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you; I am not worthy to be called your son. Make me as one of your hired servants.

You know how the father received him, not as a servant, but as a beloved son. Seeing him coming from afar, he runs to meet him; seized with compassion, he throws himself on his neck, presses him to his heart, and embracing him, he tells his servants: Bring forth quickly the finest robe and put it on him and put a ring on his hand and shoes on his feet; and bring here the fatted calf and kill it and let us eat and make merry. And there was dancing and music. These eloquent details with which the story ends show us a father exulting in his happiness. And why? He tells us why, and repeats it to the jealous older brother: This my son was dead and has come to life again; was lost and has been found.

Oh, this desire, this need of the Father of mercies to retrieve his lost child and give him life! That is the heart of God! Remember that each time you pick yourself up after a fall, the feast of the prodigal son is renewed. Your Father in heaven clothes you again in his most beautiful cloak, puts a ring on your finger, and tells you to dance with joy. In a living faith, you will not approach the confessional with dragging feet, but as if you were going to a feast, even if you have to make a great effort each time to humble yourself and to conquer the monotony of the routine. After the absolution, you should dance like the prodigal son did at the request and for the joy of his father. We do not dance enough in the spiritual life.”

PRAYER FOR PEACE IN UKRAINE

Heavenly Father, Your Son taught us “Blessed are the Peacemakers for they shall be called Children of God.” In this time of great worry, we fervently pray that Your Holy Spirit sustain all the people of Ukraine to be vigilant and dedicated to peace & justice. Grant their leaders wisdom and prudence. Yet, may they also have the strength and perseverance to defend their land from all adversity and foreign attacks. Help us all to live according to your Divine Will. O God, our Father, in the days to come, we beseech You to comfort the suffering, heal the wounded, and accept the souls of the faithful departed into Your Heavenly Kingdom. We ask also that the Most Holy Mother of God extend her blessed mantle of protection over our Ukraine. Amen.
